

We will provide, and you consent to receive via postings on our website and/or e-mail delivery: (i) announcements of the availability of our Form ADV Part 2 and material updates thereto, our Privacy Policy, our Investment Advisory Agreement, and any other disclosures required to be delivered to you ("Disclosures"); and/or (ii) copies of such Disclosures. In the case of an announcement, the e-mail you will receive from us will contain the website address where you may access these materials. These materials may be viewed or printed. We reserve the right to post communications on our website without providing notice to you, when permitted by law.

All Disclosures provided electronically will be deemed to have been good and effective delivery to you when posted on this website or sent by us to your email on record, regardless of whether you actually or timely accessed this website or receive the e-mail notification.

If an e-mail notification is undeliverable, we will provide the delivery to your postal mail address of record. This consent will continue until you notify us in writing that you revoke your consent.